Dear Ms. Farber,

Thank you for your dedication to undergraduate scholarships at Johns Hopkins. The Pioneering Undergraduate Women's Scholarship will provide our exceptional students the means to engage in the richest research challenges and the most rewarding intellectual growth. It is a sound investment in the future of our world.

Our undergraduates are fully aware of the challenges in financing their education and are deeply appreciative of your gift. They are also anxious to express how impactful scholarships have been to their education. To that end, please allow me to share with you a letter from a current undergraduate who is receiving scholarship aid and who is representative of the high caliber of student your scholarship will fund.

I hope you will join us for the annual Homewood Schools Scholarship Luncheon on March 26th, where you will have the opportunity to connect with fellow alumni and friends who share your belief in scholarship support, and hear from other students who are excited and thankful to be a part of this great tradition at Johns Hopkins.

Warm regards,

Beverly Wendland
Interim Dean
